Overview

This is a remarkable offering. Few of our properties feature owning the very center of the top of the mountain. Here that is the case. At 3500' elevation, in summer there's always a cool breeze and even though it's ninety in Charlotte or one hundred in Raleigh you usually need a blanket to sleep under up here. The home is a solid two-bedroom, two-bath mountain cottage built in '71 with a massive brick fireplace. They've updated to gas logs for convenience and updated the kitchen with granite and stainless steel replete with gas cooktop. But it remains true to its roots, not trying to impress anyone, just command the top of the mountain and conquer the heat. Walk out the front door and the view will knock your socks off. Owner lives on the far side of Charlotte and says in 2:15 he's door-to-door. If you've been looking for your very own mountain top, you may have found it. Drive up and see it today!
