Overview

Come and see this beautiful, well-maintained 1850s historic home. This move-in ready home sits on 40 acres in the historic district of Red Beach. The property is located within a mile of the Saint Croix Island National Historic Park, where you can enjoy the unusual red beach sand and red rocky shoreline without the oceanfront taxes. The house once served as the post office for the area, and the large lot was a Christmas tree farm, back in the day. Between the woods and the fields, there is plenty of space to raise a family or start your new homestead. The kitchen has beautiful wood built-ins and the living room is spacious, with large windows that let in good natural light. A propane stove provides a bit of extra warmth on those winter nights. Upstairs are 4 spacious bedrooms and there is a potential fifth bedroom (or office space) off the living room on the main floor, allowing for single level living. The laundry is also on the main floor for convenience and shares a pantry/storage space off the kitchen. There is a one car under garage space, a two car attached garage off the kitchen/mud room, and a detached work shop for your projects. The home is surrounded by well established fruit trees and perennials, this is a fantastic place for those wanting privacy and lots of garden space, and a quick drive to Calais, or Eastport amenities.
