Overview

Stunning House and Bunker, Malangen, Norway

Euroresales Property iD - 9825895

Property Details

This simply breath-taking 4 bedroom property, in the wonderful Mestervik area of Norway, was built very much for the future with its incredible self-sufficient and protective features.

This is a property which is designed to be a beautiful recreation house as well as a safe haven.

This airtight house also has a hidden underground bunker and can provide a warm, safe haven for your family and any challenges the future may bring. Alongside the property itself, this location also offers the chance to experience the stunning natural beauty that Norway has to offer.

This compound has been designed from the ground up to provide the best shelter against pandemics, climate changes, earthquake, tsunami, nuclear, great depression, solar flares and EMP and long-term power outages.

Even though this property is a fortress it can still be used as a recreation destination. All the survival items are discreetly hidden away, and the house presents itself as a normal modern recreation house. This house will give you peace of mind in normal days as well as turbulent times.

About the area

Malangen (Northern Sami: Malatvuotna or Kven: Malankivuono) is a former municipality in Troms county in Norway. The 372-square-kilometre (144 sq mi) municipality existed from 1871 until its dissolution in 1964. The old municipality surrounded the Malangen fjord and today that area is divided between the municipalities of Balsfjord, Lenvik, Tromsø, and Målselv. The administrative centre was the village of Mortenhals where the main church for the municipality, Malangen Church, is located.

Mestervik or Meistervik is a village in Balsfjord Municipality in Troms og Finnmark county, Norway. The village is located near the southeastern end of the Malangen fjord, about 15 kilometres (9.3 mi) south of the village of Mortenhals. Mestervik Chapel is located here.
